VALENCIA FLYERS @ LONG BEACH BOMBERS Flyers win thriller in Long Beach

11.22.17 – Valencia 5, Long Beach 4 (2 OT)

Wednesday night's pre-Thanksgiving tilt between the top two teams in the WSHL's Western Division was junior hockey at its best.

The Long Beach Bombers scored the first three goals of the game, and led 4-2 going into the third period, but the Valencia Flyers battled back to notch a huge 5-4 road win on Jakob Kranabetter's second goal of the game 52 seconds into the second overtime.

It looked like the Bombers had the game won in regulation, but Valencia's Melwin Thorsson tied it up with 49 seconds left in regulation.

Kranabetter and Thorsson were not the only Flyers coming up with clutch goals. Jason Hickman scored with 1:03 left in the second period, cutting into a 4-1 Bombers lead and giving Valencia a lift heading into the locker room for the second intermission.

Joseph Hebert got the Flyers within a goal at 12:22 of the third period and Valencia began pressing for the tying goal. Long Beach and goaltender Domenic Bosetti (42 saves) were not able to protect the one-goal lead for the remaining 7:38.

Valencia's Spencer Kozlowski made 31 saves in the game – including all 12 shots he faced in the third period and overtime as the Flyers mounted their comeback.

Bobby Cloutier (15 saves) posted the shutout for the Blazers.

Wichita's Connor Green stopped 18 of 21 shots in the first period, but otherwise had a long night between the pipes for the Jr. Thunder.

If their Thanksgiving feast slowed the Blazers down it was not very noticeable. Joshua Chamberlain scored a hat trick and Patrick Wiens stopped all 21 shots he faced as OKC won, 11-0, on Friday.

Ivan Bondarenko dished out four assists for the Blazers and Green went the distance in the Wichita net, making 40 saves – 20 of them in the first period.

11.24.17 – El Paso 6, Springfield 1

11.25.17 – El Paso 7, Springfield 3

The El Paso Rhinos maintained their own unbeaten record, sweeping the third-place Springfield Express – a team hoping to mount a challenge to the top two teams in the Mid-Western Division, who boast a combined 33-0-0 record.

On Wednesday, Nikita Sokov scored with :07 left in the first period to send the game to the first intermission tied, 1-1. It was the first of two goals in the game for Sokov.

The Rhinos took a 3-1 lead in the second period, but the Express came back with two quick goals – at 15:32 and 15:40, to even things back up. Kyle Cagnoni got Springfield back within a goal and then Sokov tied the game again with his second goal of the night.

But, just 23 seconds after that, Timothy Heffner gave El Paso a 4-3 lead, and killed any momentum the Express had built. Chaseton Sare and Adam Stalzer scored the only goals of the third period to give the Rhinos a 6-3 win.

Springfield's Chad Purdy faced a ton of runner in the first period – 25 shots – but stopped 24 and the Express were still in it. Purdy finished the game with 52 saves – 41 of them coming in the first two periods.

Friday's game was close until the third period, when the Rhinos scored four unanswered goals to pull away for a 6-1 victory.

The Express were out-shot, 15-9, in the first period but led, 1-0, thanks to a Sokov goal and Kristof Dobos kicking out every Rhino shot.

El Paso scored twice in the second period to take the lead after 40 minutes. Carlo Wittor scored the first of his two goals and Phillip Pugliese lit the lamp for El Paso.

Although the dam eventually broke for Dobos, he finished the game with 41 saves. In the El Paso crease, Filip Krasanovsky stopped 23 of 24 pucks sent his way.

Springfield again played with the Rhinos of the first two periods in Saturday's series finale. Three times in the first 40 minutes of the game, El Paso went out to a two-goal lead, and three times the Express got the next goal to get back within one.

But El Paso wore them down and scored the only three goals of the third period, winning 7-3.

Sare and Stalzer each scored twice and Krasanovsky (17 saves) won his third game of the week.

Kayne Pasquet entered the Springfield cage early in the second period and made 27 saves in relief of starter Purdy (13 saves).

It was Casper, however, who took advantage of the head-to-head match-up, sweeping the series and opening up an eight-point lead over the Stampede.

Lindros Beard scored two goals and Dylan Ossachuk stopped 20 shots as the Coyotes shut out the Stampede, 4-0, on Friday.

Friday's series opener went into the third period tied, 4-4. Alex Johnson gave the Warriors the lead 2:47 into the period, but Matej Valicek responded with his second goal of the game for the Spartans just 42 seconds later.

Southern Oregon out-shot West Sound, 16-7, in the third period, but the next 10 minutes went by without either team scoring thanks largely to West Sound's netminder Robbie Brennan.

With 6:12 left in the game, however, Southern Oregon's Yanneck Kumli chased down a dump-in in the right wing corner of the rink, circled back up the boards, then went across the zone with a pass to Peter Toth at the blue line. He put the puck on net, and Brennan made a left pad save, but Joel Holmberg crashed the net and deposited the rebound for the winning goal. It was the third assist of the game for Kumli.

The Spartans out-shot the Warriors in all three periods, but Brennan made 44 saves to keep West Sound in it. Austin Toussaint made 31 saves for Southern Oregon.

The fans in Medford were treated to another exciting game on Saturday night, although the Spartans came up short. Samuel Pelech's shorthanded goal with 1:58 left in the second period broke a 2-2 tie and held up as the game-winner for West Sound.

With Southern Oregon on a power play, the Warriors cleared the puck all the way down to the Spartans end and Pelech was the first player down the ice. Southern Oregon goaltender Krystof Holub mis-played the puck behind the net and Pelech was able to swoop in, steal the puck, and score a backhand wrap-around goal.

The Spartans out-shot the Warriors, 11-10, in a scoreless third period as Toussaint and West Sound's Brian Eisele battled each other save-for-save in a one-goal game for the final 20 minutes.

Eisele finished the game with 30 saves on 32 shots. Toussaint entered the game and stopped all 11 shots he faced in relief of Southern Oregon starter Holub (20 saves) who was injured on the game-winning goal.

Sunday was another one-goal game heading into the third period, but West Sound made sure the contest lacked the intrigue of the first two nights by scoring twice early in the period to take a three-goal lead on their way to a 7-3 win.

Pelech scored the last two goals of the game for the Warriors, who got 20 saves from winning goalie Eisele. Harri Kroll had a goal and four assists while Mattias Wikstrom chipped in 1-3-4.
